

'Rebel Democrats To Lose Backing Of Michigan CIO

Lansing, March 26 (P)—A Republican state senator said today he will move for reconsideration of Thursday's vote rejecting Paul Stanchfield as chairman of the State Unemployment Compensation commission.

Senator John B. Martin of Grand Rapids, saying he would not be a party to "political extortion" declared he will move Monday night to reconsider the vote.

"I have learned on unimpeachable authority that the Democratic senators wanted Gov. Williams to give them three favors—either three liquor licenses or two liquor licenses and a job," he declared.

In the vote rejecting Stanchfield's appointment, nine Democratic and eleven Republicans refrained from voting. The governor's nominee was rejected 10-1.

"What the Republican majority was doing by its silence was to cooperate in giving the Democrats three such favors apiece," Martin said. "In the interest of honest government we should look at it (the Stanchfield appointment) again."

The nine Democratic senators who refrained from voting on the appointment were threatened last night with the loss of labor's vote.

"The people who were elected to run with the governor are morally obligated to support him in his efforts to carry out the program on which he was elected," President Walter P. Reuther of the CIO-United Auto Workers told a political rally in Detroit last night.

"To those who have sinned, I will say that at the next election we will be out to defeat the double-crossers."

He referred to the nine Democratic state senators who abstained from voting Thursday at the Senate, by a ten to one vote, turned down Paul Stanchfield to head the MUCC. Eleven Republican senators also had sat silent as the vote was called.

Political observers said the Democrats acted in protest against the governor's failure to consult them in political patronage.

Gov. Williams said Stanchfield was rejected "because I refused to make a deal with a group of certain senators who sought certain favors in return for their support."

Tornadic Winds Kill Eight In Southland

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes and high winds swept Mississippi River and Western Gulf states today with a known death list of eight. An estimated 76 others were injured.

The latest tornado swept the village of Crowder, Okla., 15 miles north of McAlester, in the early pre-dawn hours, killing at least one person. State highway patrolmen, reported about 20 were injured. Crowder has a population of 378. The Crowder injured were brought to McAlester.

Another six persons were injured in Springtown, Tex., a town of 850 people about 20 miles northwest of Fort Worth, in another tornado.

Thunderstorms struck today over parts of eastern Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, moved into the southern plains and headed for the Ohio River valley. High winds were reported in some parts of the storm belt.

The tornado winds which hit the Texas-Mississippi-Louisiana regions Thursday and today were accompanied by heavy rain in some areas. Six Negroes were killed and 33 other persons were injured near Greenwood, Miss.

A painter was blown off a rooftop and killed in El Paso, Tex., which was hit by one of its worst sandstorms. Winds reached a velocity of 65 miles per hour. Trees were uprooted and power lines broken.

Eighteen persons were injured when a tornado ripped through Desdemona, a small community 60 miles southwest of Fort Worth. Some streets in Fort Worth were flooded.

Rainfall measured 3.40 inches at Jackson, Miss.; 2.89 at Vicksburg and 2.20 inches at Fort Worth, the U. S. Weather Bureau said.

Early spring snowfalls continued in northern Minnesota and extreme northern North Dakota. Snow also fell in the area near Denver. During the snowstorm last night in Denver an Air Force C-54 plane crashed into an unoccupied building at the Rocky Mountain arsenal, killing all men aboard. An arsenal executive officer said three Air Force personnel were aboard. The arsenal is about four miles from the Denver municipal airport.

Debate Near Windup On Foreign Aid Bill

Washington, March 26 (P)—Majority Leader Lucas (Ill.) today urged the Senate to stick to business and pass the new $5,580,000,000 foreign aid program Monday.

But Republican Floor Leader Wherry (Neb.) predicted that the bill will not be passed before Wednesday. He told reporters Republicans have a lot of amendments they want to offer.

Lucas promised a long session Monday in an effort to wind up debate on the bill to carry on the European recovery program through June 30, 1950. He said the Senate could do it if senators would quit talking about "extraneous" matters.

The administration's foreign aid program bumped into a counterproposal by Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) yesterday.

Capehart proposed to cut the authorization to $3,000,000,000. He said this amount would be ample, along with $2,700,000,000 in unexpired authorizations from the present act.

The Indiana senator, who voted against foreign aid last year, labeled the program a "European finance plan" instead of a recovery program. He said it was time the nation paid more attention to its own economy.

Shortages of Auto Parts Make 39,000 Idle At Detroit

Detroit, March 26 (P)—Nearly 39,000 auto workers were idled today by strikes and parts shortages.

Chrysler Corp. disclosed that because of a shortage of frames it would be unable to recall on Monday 24,000 workers who have been idle in six Detroit plants.

Chrysler blamed the shortages on a continuing strike of 2,600 employees of the Midland Steel Products Co. in Detroit.

Hudson Motor Co. said that because of a shortage of motors and cylinder blocks assembly operations would be suspended Monday idling 12,000 workers. The Hudson workers were expected to go back to work Tuesday or shortly thereafter.

Former State Crop Statistician Dead

Lansing, March 26 (P)—Verne H. Church, the man who told the nation for 35 years how Michigan crops were coming, died here Friday at the age of 73.

Church was head of the Federal-State Crop Reporting service office here for 28 years, retiring in 1942. He died of a heart attack.

Legislature Studies Expansion Of State Prison Work Camps

Useful Outdoor Tasks For Convicts Welcomed

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Lansing, March 26 (P)—A greatly expanded program of conservation work by prison inmates is before the state legislature.

The conservation and corrections departments are asking permission to set up six camps on the model of one conducted successfully at the Waterloo state recreation area last year.

Under the proposal, camps would be set up at Cusino wildlife experiment station, the Porcupines state park and Tahquamenon state park in the Upper Peninsula and at Wilderness state park, Pontiac Lake recreation area and Waterloo in the lower peninsula.

It is proposed that the legislature appropriate $270,000 to the conservation department and $137,000 to the corrections department for their share of the operation. In addition, it is proposed that $87,000 of earmarked game fund money be shunted into the program.

Members of the house and senate appropriating committees have indicated cautious approval of the program, but already there is talk of cutting it down.

Few Guards Required
The committees were being urged to appropriate some of the money immediately so start of the work will not have to wait for the start of the fiscal year on July 1.

Trustees from Marquette branch prison would be assigned to the Upper Peninsula camps and trustees from Southern Michigan prison to the Lower Peninsula.

Working in isolated areas under as few guards as possible, the in-

Ballot Win Needed By GOP To Retain Control At Lansing

Detroit, March 26 (P)—Michigan Republicans were warned today that they will lose control of the State Administrative Board unless they retain control of two important offices at the April 4 election.

The offices are State Highway Commissioner and State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

At the same time, they were asked to "show Governor Williams and Gus Schollie that we don't want government behind government."

State GOP chairman Owen J. (Pat) Cleary and GOP National Committeeman Arthur E. Summerfield spoke at a Republican luncheon rally yesterday.

Cleary charged that Schollie, who heads the State CIO Political Action committee, "often has the ears of—and speaks through the mouth of—the governor of Michigan."

The state GOP chieftain asserted there have been "many evidences of Gus Schollie's" in Williams' actions. He noted particularly the nominations of Kempton Williams as a member of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission and Paul Stanchfield as MUCC director. Both nominations were turned down by the Senate.

Cleary declared the Democratic party has been "kidnaped by labor elements inclined toward socialism."

The informants said the new restrictions will be based on a confidential schedule of goods and materials which the United States feels should not be allowed to reach areas in the Soviet orbit. They said Washington has sent these schedules to the 19 countries which receive American assistance under the European recovery program.

Two of the American schedules asked for bans on the shipment to Iron Curtain countries of arms, munitions, radar equipment, atom bomb materials, or anything which might be used in the manufacture of jet engines and certain precision instruments, the sources said.

A third schedule, which they said is the basis for the proposed new restrictions, is much more far reaching. They declined to disclose its contents or to state whether Britain has agreed to ban everything it mentions.

Chinese Who Spent 113 Days On Raft Tells Navy Plenty

Washington, March 26 (P)—Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) says the Navy learned so much from a Chinese seaman who spent 113 days on a raft during the war that the man should be granted permanent American residence.

Magnuson offered a bill yesterday to give that privilege to Poon Lim, who wrote a new page in the textbook of survival technique after a British merchant ship was torpedoed under him.

The sailor nabbed a raft provisioned for only 50 days and, eating birds caught by hand and fish snared with a watch-spring hook, sat it out until he was picked up off the coast of Brazil.

House Gets Back On War Pension Merry-Go-Round

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE

Washington, March 26 (P)—A still dizzy House was back on the veterans pension merry-go-round today.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) stepped back to the controls yesterday to introduce a limited pension bill for veterans of World War I.

Only Thursday, after the House buried his multi-billion dollar pension bill for all World War I and II servicemen, a disappointed Rankin had said no pension legislation could pass at this session.

But just a day later he bounced back with his new proposal, introduced, he said, "by request."

He said the American Legion and "many members" of the House Veterans committee, of which he is chairman, had urged the new bill.

Whereas the Mississippian's first bill provided $90 a month pensions at age 65 to all 18,800,000 World War I and II veterans, the second is considerably less inclusive and probably less costly.

It is limited to the approximately 3,500,000 veterans of World War I, and provides for pensions of $72 a month for vets whose income falls below a certain point. It also prohibits "pyramiding" of benefits from other sources, and confines pensions to honorably discharged veterans.

Most of these provisions were tacked onto Rankin's first bill during the battering it took on the House floor.

Rankin said he thought the changes would "greatly reduce the cost" from the tentative figure of $125,000,000,000 set on the old bill.

The move brought mixed reaction from those who fought him earlier this week.

Rep. Teague (D-Tex.) who had poised the axe over the first bill, observed that most of what the new bill offers "already is in existing law."

He referred to statutory regulations of the veterans administration which make available disability or a 60-year-old veteran with 50 per cent disability is entitled to $60 a month if unemployed. At age 65, and with only 10 per cent disability, he is entitled to $72 a month.

Top Military Staff Cut Down To Three
General Eisenhower III; Adm. Leahy Retires

Washington, March 26 (P)—The illness of one official and retirement of another cut the joint chiefs of staff today down to three men—the representatives of the quarrelsome armed forces.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the group's temporary chairman and moderator, is ill. Indications are that it might be some time before he can return to duty.

Meanwhile the White House announced the retirement of Admiral William D. Leahy, 73, charter member of the joint chiefs organization.

The admiral's public career dates from the Spanish-American war.

He doffed his navy uniform in 1939 to become governor of Puerto Rico, then ambassador to France. But in 1942 when the late President Roosevelt formed the wartime military high command he asked Leahy to return to active duty and become a member.

Roosevelt's hope—never realized—was that the prestige of a White House representative would stop the interservice arguments over allocations of manpower, material and missions. But the Army, Navy and Air Force continued the controversies.

Spurned Tutor Kills Park Avenue Malron

Smitten Teacher Flings Himself Under Train

New York, March 26 (P)—A sequence of scorned love, murder and suicide was described by police today after a society matron was found strangled in her luxurious Park Avenue apartment.

Police said wealthy Mrs. Helen Reinberg, 51, was slain by her love-smitten but spurned language tutor, who then flung himself beneath the wheels of a subway train two hours later.

A note left by the tutor, Jose Del Pino, 57, a small, dark former university Spanish teacher, said Mrs. Reinberg "broke my heart." By rebutting his love.

"I just got through making the greatest blunder of my life," the note said. "I can't think because I'm completely crazy."

The note was apparently written after Mrs. Reinberg was killed, police said.

Her near-nude body was found in her fashionable seven-room apartment yesterday. A man's black necktie was knotted about her throat. Police said she had been dead about 24 hours.

Mrs. Reinberg was the wife of wealthy Gustave Reinberg, vice president of one of the world's largest copper mining firms, the Cerro de Pasco Copper Corporation. Police said he is in Lima, Peru, on business.

The Reinbergs' 17-year-old daughter, Anne, is a student at Vassar college in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Restrictions Eased On Trade With Tito To Hamper Russians

Washington, March 26 (P)—Informed officials say the United States is easing restrictions on trade with Yugoslavia in an effort to widen the split between Marshall Tito and Russia.

The state department shied away from making a public confirmation yesterday.

But other officials said some scarce American equipment and machinery which is denied to other eastern European countries has been shipped to Yugoslavia recently with government approval.

More will follow later if Marshall Tito maintains his independence from Moscow, they added. Included in the shipments have been scarce oil drilling equipment.

Lawmakers Will Try To Adjourn May 13

Lansing, March 26 (P)—A drive for adjournment of the legislature May 13 is on.

In the House yesterday, Clerk Norman E. Philles explained adjournment procedures and concluded with the caution that all bills must be introduced by April 15 if legislators want to go home May 13.

Speaker Victor A. Knox (R-Sault Ste. Marie) said he had conferred with appropriation, taxation and other important committees and they had assured him they could complete their work by the middle of May.

Speaker Heckled While 2000 Pickets Chant Out In Rain

Crippled War Veterans In Protest Parade

By ARTHUR W. EVERETT
New York, March 26 (P)—A tension-charged "world peace" conference goes into its keynote sessions today after hearing a magazine editor declare Americans "do not want peace at any price."

Hisses and jeers broke out six times in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last night as Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature spoke.

He accused the conference of owing allegiance to an "outside government." There was some applause when he sat down, but boos and hisses almost drowned it out.

Then playwright Lillian Hellman began her address, saying: "I would recommend, Mr. Cousins, that when you talk about your hosts at dinner, wait until you have gone home to do it."

Outside, 2,000 pickets, protesting the conference, tramped and chanted in the rain.

About the same number of writers, artists and scientists from many parts of the world filled the conference room to capacity as the three-day affair opened.

Internationally-renowned Soviet composer Dmitri Shostakovich told the assemblage he hoped the "genial efforts" of the parley would bear fruit. He heads a seven-man Soviet delegation.

Speaking through an interpreter, he greeted his American hosts saying: "We are united with them in accomplishing the noble task of defending peace against its enemies."

Urging a firmer "link between the representatives of culture of our two peoples," he added: "This friendship and the resulting mutual understanding will

Mrs. Stevenson, who is 40, said she believes she caught the mumps from her son, John, 13.

Milk Prices Cut Again In Detroit

Detroit, March 26 (P)—This area's retail milk price soon will be back to 19 cents a quart—the same as a year ago.

The second one-cent a quart cut since the first of the year will go into effect April 1, the Ebling Creamery Co. announced. Other local creameries were expected to follow Ebling's lead.

Dairy farmers will get $4.75 a hundredweight instead of $5.15 under the cut the Michigan Milk Producers Association announced.

Milwaukee Mystery Murder Clues Slim

Youth Who Eloped With Sister Questioned

Milwaukee, March 26 (P)—Detective Capt. Adolph Kraemer said today that Milton Babich, 19, told police he saw a teen-age murder victim the day she disappeared, but did not speak to her.

Kraemer said Babich had been questioned intermittently from noon until shortly before 2 a. m. (CST) in connection with the brutal murder of a pretty Patricia Birmingham, 16, a suburban West Allis high school girl.

Babich, cloned with Patricia's sister Kathleen, 17, last Friday.

Two days later Patricia's body was fished from the Milwaukee river. She had been shot twice with a .22 calibre gun and a concrete building block had been tied to her feet.

Kraemer said Babich "abandoned" an earlier story that he failed to keep a date with Patricia the afternoon of Feb. 10, the day she disappeared. He quoted Babich as saying he had made inquiries about her in the neighborhood in which they were to meet and that he had seen her from a distance, but did not talk to her.

Babich and Kathleen were returned to Milwaukee by air Thursday after they were apprehended in Minneapolis. He told authorities they had been married at Kalamazoo, Mich., Friday.

CONFEREES FAVOR Extension Of Rent Control 15 Months

Washington, March 26 (P)—Senate-House conferees today agreed on a flat 15-month extension of Federal rent controls.

The compromise rent bill provides for "home rule" decontrol at any time, however.

The conferees committee agreed last night on a provision which lets states, cities, towns and villages get rid of rent curbs if the state governor approves.

The conferees are seeking to iron out differences between rent control bills passed by the House and Senate. They have not yet reached an agreement on what to do about rent increases. Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) called that "the toughest nut of all" to crack.

The present rent law expires next Thursday, March 31.

Duke of Edinburgh Wants No Sissy Son

London, March 26 (P)—The Duke of Edinburgh isn't going to let his son—who some day may be King of England—grow up to be a sissy.

The Duke said last night he wants Prince Charles to be handy with his fists. There is plenty of time. The Prince, son of the Duke and Princess Elizabeth, is less than four and a half months old.

Presenting prizes to boys who had won boxing matches at a settlement house in London's east end, the Duke told them, "one day I hope my son will box as well as any of the boys here tonight."

Favors Archery Hunting
Gladstone, Michigan
March 24, 1949
The Escanaba Daily Press
Communications Editor
Escanaba, Michigan
Dear Sir:

Several days ago an article appeared in this column condemning recent legislation to open deer season in Delta county for archers. The writer signs himself as representing the Wolverine Conservation Association and stated that it was very unsportsmanlike to shoot does with any device—that one might as well go out and shoot some farmer's heifer.

It can well be seen that the author is totally unacquainted both with archery and with the game situation in our state. Only one archer in Delta county got a deer with a bow and arrow last year, and several hundred man-hours of hunting were done by our best archers, who traveled to Schoolcraft county to do their hunting. It just isn't easy. Unsportsman-like? Look at these figures from the State reports for 1947—

Successful hunters—
gun-bucks 30.5%
Successful hunters—
bow and arrow 6.6%
(Most counties open does to archers).

It's just like shooting a heifer? The following are some facts for your consideration, based on information received from our local conservation department, and taken from the magazine MICHIGAN CONSERVATION, published by the Michigan Conservation Department (Jan.-Feb. '49) Statistics are for 1947—the 1948 statistics are not yet completed.

An estimated 20-30 thousand deer (mostly does and fawns) starved to death in this year. This is due to over population.

Quoting from the same magazine (page 25)—"This annual increase (in deer population) must be removed before the next yearling season."

Now, after the 1948 deer season was over, the Department used spotting planes and accounted for over 30,000 illegally shot deer, and it is estimated these were fawns and does. Still, the herd does not seem to be depleted. Take this under consideration and at the same time think of the deer that die from starvation in various areas, still summing both together, the deer herd is increasing.

Archers in six counties of the Upper Peninsula open to antlerless deer took a total of 7 does and 10 bucks in 1947. They paid a total of $2499.50 for the privilege. Is this unsportsmanly? (It's just like shooting a heifer!)

The State of Minnesota has never had a buck law even for gun hunters and their total herd is on the increase.

Let's all give a boost for the sport that provides a lot of fun at little expense in game lost, a good revenue to our Conservation Department, and a chance to get in the woods when the weather is warm and the country beautiful. What do you think!

Sincerely,
Dr. Robert E. Ryde, Pres.
Delta County Archers Assn.

'Make Michigan Strong', Kelly Tells Delta GOP

The strengthening of Michigan's government to resist an all-pervading federal government that would break down state's rights" was called for here last night by former Gov. Harry F. Kelly at a public meeting in Wm. Oliver auditorium sponsored by the Delta county Republican committee.

"As Republicans we must help make Michigan strong. The coming election of April 4 is important. Without derogating any of the candidates of the opposition, I believe Michigan and its people will best be served by the election of all of the Republican candidates," Gov. Kelly said.

Speakers at the meeting last night were introduced by John Anthony of Escanaba, and included Gov. Kelly and Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr.

The Hon. Charles E. Potter, 11th district congressman, was unable to be here because of illness. In a telegram read by Anthony, Rep. Potter explained that he had "picked up a virus bug" and expressed his "extreme disappointment" at being unable to attend.

Secretary of State Alger spoke in behalf of the candidacy of Republican candidates Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, and Dr. Lee Thurston, superintendent of public instruction. He pointed out that both incumbents are now members of the state administrative board, and that if the majority of the board members are to continue Republican they must be reelected.

Gov. Kelly described the possibility of a minority, or a faction of Michigan voters, deciding the April 4 election unless voters turned out all over the state. In the biennial spring election only about 20 per cent of the votes are cast compared to the number who vote in the November election.

"If the majority of that 20 per cent represent only an industrial area, or any one locality in the state, then important decision on Michigan's highways, education, and agriculture will be made by a minority—only a part, or a fraction, of the people of Michigan," Kelly said.

He lauded Charles M. Ziegler, candidate for reelection as state highway commissioner, for his program of cooperation with local units of government. By entering into contracts for trunk-line maintenance with county road commissions, Ziegler has "put an end to waste and duplication and halted a threat of centralizing all highway authority in Lansing," he said.

Kelly and Alger left today for St. Ignace following a tour of the Upper Peninsula in which they campaigned for the Republican ticket, and will speak at meetings in Lower Michigan on their way to Lansing.

Report Progress In Campaign For Delta Red Cross

Progress is reported in the 1949 membership campaign of the Delta county chapter, American Red Cross, and every effort is being made to reach the $10,000 county quota and close the campaign by March 31, it was announced today.

To date a total of $6,610.40 has been reported in contributions, with Wells township assured it will reach its quota of $1,000 and Nahma township already attaining its quota of $250.

Township chairmen have been advised to have their committees complete their work by the end of the month and to turn in to the drive treasurer the funds they township chairmen are unable to report on the progress of the drive because they have not heard from their solicitors.

In Escanaba, which has a quota of $5,000, all but $600 has been raised; and in Gladstone $650 of a $1,250 quota was reported attained.

BALLOT BOXES ALL "TIED UP"

Hook Recount Red Tape Cause Of Difficulty

In most of the voting precincts in the townships and cities of Delta county new ballot boxes will have to be provided for the April 4 biennial spring election because the others are tied up in "red tape" as a part of the senatorial recount petition filed last November by Frank E. Hook.

Delta County Clerk J. Theodore Ohlen has been advised by a U. S. senate sub-committee on recounts that ballot boxes containing "senatorial ballots" cannot be opened or used. In fact they cannot be opened to determine if they contain "senatorial ballots."

Other ballot boxes not containing ballots cast in the race for U. S. senator—a race in which Hook of Ironwood, Democrat, was defeated by Homer Ferguson, Detroit, Republican—may be "released" for use in the April 4 election.

In preparation for the coming election an "election school" for election officials in the townships and cities of Delta county will be held in the court house at Escanaba at 1:30 p. m. Monday, the county clerk announced. Instructors will be the county clerk and Prosecutor J. Clyde McGonagle.

Ballots and other election supplies were delivered this week to the township and city clerks.

Captain Jacobson, Veteran Of Lakes Sailing, Is Dead

Captain Peter Henry Jacobson, 64, 218 Lake Shore drive, whose sailing career on the Great Lakes dated from the time of the late Captain Charles McCauley and the Steamer Maywood, died at 6:12 last night in St. Francis hospital. He had been in poor health for nine months and was seriously ill only three days. A cerebral hemorrhage caused his death.

Born in Stonington, August 19, 1884, Mr. Jacobson attended the Stonington schools and for several years worked for the Skaug brothers on their Stonington farm. On November 6, 1909, he married Ellen Sorensen, their wedding the first to take place in the Swedish Lutheran church at Stonington. The couple moved to Escanaba immediately following their marriage and lived since that time at their Lake Shore Drive home.

On Maywood Captain Jacobson began sailing with the late Capt. McCauley and later was captain of the "Elide" for the Hansen and Jensen company. He bought and sailed his own boats for many years, among them the freighters "Berger" and "Ored Andres" and commercial fishing boats, "Clara S", "Sunrise" and "Hope." The "Hope" was his last boat. He was aboard her, fishing out of Manistique, when the Armistice Day storm of 1940 struck the Great Lakes and both he and members of his crew were injured. He disposed of the boat in that year.

Warn Youngsters Under 17 of State Law On Firearms

Spring fever that sends juveniles afield with .22 caliber rifles to shoot crows, foxes, and illegal targets such as songbirds may get their parents into trouble.

Small boys afield after the winter's confinement have been guilty of indiscriminate shooting in a number of cases. Few of them, roaming the countryside with a gun, realize that, just as in hunting season, they must have their license and be accompanied by parent or other qualified older person until they pass their seventeenth birthday. Laws against trespass affect them just as strongly as in hunting season.

Conservation officers who find unaccompanied juveniles using firearms to shoot predators in a way to alarm suburban residents may hold the guns until the parents are interviewed. Older offenders may be prosecuted for careless use of hunting arms.

Rites Probably Tuesday

He was a member of the First Methodist church and of the Danish Brotherhood.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, Elizabeth of Escanaba, and Mrs. Frank (Marie) Tardel, Santa Rosa, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Jim Nelson, Stonington; two brothers, George J. of Columbus, Wis., and Harry, Dearborn, Mich.; and one grandson, Vernon Tardel.

Services probably will be held Tuesday afternoon, depending upon Mrs. Tardel's arrival in Escanaba. Friends of the family may call at the Boyce funeral home beginning at 7 p. m. Sunday.

POTTER RAPS PENSION PLAN

Payments to Vets Has Bad Taste

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—In the opinion of Eleventh District Rep. Charles E. Potter the bill providing for $90 pensions for all veterans at the age of 65 years does no credit to veterans, no credit to the House Veterans Affairs committee and does not do credit to congress.

He said he regretted to see a bill of this kind come from the Committee on Veterans Affairs with so much bad taste on the part of some members of the committee.

"If this bill be considered an incentive for military service, I am just wondering how logical it is," he said. "We have had two great wars in the past 25 years. While we win our wars, we have an inherent faculty of losing the peace. I am just wondering whether it might not be wise to provide pensions for our policy makers, our peacemakers, as an incentive for them to do a better job rather than offer them as an incentive to men who bear arms. The soldiers always do their job; our peacemakers do not."

When the bill was before the house, Rep. Potter voted to recommend it and said he would do the same again.

"I hate to see the veterans of this country used as political pawns in this great Washington game of cheat, of playing one group against another," Rep. Potter said. "You are trying to make mercenaries out of the veterans of the country. You cannot convince me that by doling out a few dollars to veterans and then forgetting them you are performing them a service."

Mrs. McCormick, 80, Dies In Menominee

Menominee, Mich.—Mrs. Nellie McCormick, 80, of Hotel Menominee, a lifelong resident of the city, died at 4 a. m., Friday in St. Joseph's hospital. Death resulted from shock caused by a fall Sunday in her hotel suite. She fractured her left arm.

Nellie Stephenson McCormick was born here December 23, 1868, one of five daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Stephenson, lived here all her life and was educated in the Menominee schools. On January 26, 1896, she wed Louis H. McCormick here. He died in 1914. The McCormicks had two sons, Walter McCormick, who died in 1903, and Harris Stephenson McCormick, who died March 27, 1934.

Mrs. McCormick was a member of the First Presbyterian church and the Women's Union.

Her father was one of Menominee's leading lumbermen as superintendent of the Kirby Carpenter Co., and built the present Hotel Menominee, formerly known as the S. M. Stephenson hotel. He was one of the founders of the Lumbermen's National Bank and operated the former Pine Hill Farm, one of the largest stock farms in the Upper Peninsula a half century ago. Mr. Stephenson at one time represented this district in the United States congress.

Only survivors are a sister, Mrs. Robert E. Jennings, only surviving member of the S. M. Stephenson family; and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be read at 2:30 p. m., Monday in the Cadieu funeral home by the Rev. David Evans Buzza and burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

Safety Campaign Starts April 1

A STATEWIDE traffic safety campaign will be launched in Michigan on April 1 with police and sheriff departments of all counties cooperating to acquaint motorists with the urgent need for greater care in motor driving.

Safety campaigns have been conducted annually for almost as many years as there have been automobiles. The need for these campaigns is indelibly written in the records of the dead and injured in motor accidents. New drivers are on the highways each year. The older drivers still have not been fully convinced of the need for traffic safety, or at least their driving performances do not indicate it.

To be truly effective, a traffic safety campaign must be a continuing process, an around-the-calendar emphasis upon the necessity for observing traffic regulations and rules of common sense in motoring. Such a program is now in operation. Special emphasis is made at periods of extreme hazard, such as holidays or when driving conditions are particularly dangerous, during storms, etc.

The beginning of spring is another occasion to stress the need for safety in motoring because it marks the start of expanded highway traffic.

Motorists are paying heavily for their indiscretions in automobile driving, not only in the toll of dead and maimed, but in high automobile insurance rates, now at an all-time peak in the Upper Peninsula and in costly garage repair bills.

Hundreds of motorists drive year after year, thousands upon thousands of miles, without a motor accident or even a narrow escape. It only proves that caution and common sense, if properly exercised, can solve the highway traffic problem.

Rooms Needed For PTA Convention

ESCANABA'S bid for fame as an outstanding convention city will rise or fall, as the case may be, in direct proportion to the success, or lack of it, that develops in the state Parent-Teachers association convention that will be held April 26 and 27.

This is the first time that the PTA organization has held its state convention in Escanaba or, for that matter, in any city comparable in size to Escanaba. The organization's membership comprises an excellent cross-section of the state as a whole, representing parents from all walks of life, as well as teachers. A completely successful PTA convention in Escanaba would undoubtedly be a powerful factor in encouraging other groups of similar size to select this city as a convention site in the future.

The need for housing accommodations is urgent. Approximately 1,500 delegates are expected and up to the present, rooms have been secured only for about a third of the visitors. The remainder of the accommodations required can be obtained only through the cooperation of private households.

Surely there are enough Escanabans with sufficient civic pride to offer rooms in their homes for the accommodation of these visitors for the evenings of April 26 and 27. They will be paid for their courtesy at the rate of $2 per day per person.

If you can spare a room or two to help meet this urgent problem, please notify the convention housing committee, telephone Nos. 801-R and 1100.

Rankin Still Pushes Pension Issue

THE veterans pension issue apparently was not killed when the house voted to send the original Rankin proposal back to committee for "reconsideration." Rep. Rankin has already come forward with a second proposal which he hopes will win approval of his fellow legislators.

The new proposal calls for a monthly pension of $72 for World War I vets when they reach the age of 65, if their income does not exceed $2,000 per year if unmarried or $3,000 if married or with dependents.

In view of the narrow margin, a single vote, by which the first Rankin bill, which sought $90 a month for veterans, was killed, it is not inconceivable that the newest proposal may win approval in the house of representatives. It might be pointed out that Rep. Rankin is one of those who may one day be eligible for such a pension, together with a lot of other congressmen who are found on the side of those clamoring for veterans pensions.

Even if the new proposal does win a majority vote in the house, it is not so certain that the senate would vote favorably on the proposal. It is all but a foregone conclusion that President Truman will veto a broad vets pension measure, if one should reach him in this session. A veto would certainly be sustained.

In view of the circumstances, it is disconcerting to note that Rep. Rankin insists upon taking up so much of the time of congress on an issue which lacks good judgment and which has an almost hopeless outlook for passage at this time.

Babson Sees Depression In 1953

ROGER BABSON, famed economist and statistician is of the opinion that another severe depression will strike America about 1953. There is no use trying to stave it off, he says, since it is unavoidable primarily because the last one never was really cured.

"We haven't removed the causes of depressions," says Babson. "All we did after 1929, was to put on a few plasters to stop the pain. We refuse to learn wisdom. We are making the very same mistakes today that were made before every depression in our history. The reason is plain. We fail to profit from the mistakes of others. We must learn the hard way. Every generation has to get its economic thumping, it seems to me, and thus one will be no exception."

"Every panic has its cause in the over-reaching of one group or another," adds the economist. "Next time it will be the labor union leaders, I think, who are trying to cover too much ground. The big boys in the unions are killing the goose. Presently rising unemployment will create unrest and cause a membership demand for new leadership."

Babson said that the labor unions have played a big part in lifting American living standards, and that they are going to do a lot more to better labor conditions. But labor leadership, in his opinion, will have to change.

He anticipates further decline in farm commodity prices, which are still too high, but is not worrying about the stock market. He thinks the general level of business this year will be good, but not up to the 1948 level. It will remain fairly high as long as the Economic Co-operation administration continues to operate, since this is one of the biggest props to production in the United States. But when ECA passes, lock out, he warns.

'OLD, TIRED BOOM'

(Chicago Journal of Commerce)

"There are some indications that the postwar boom may be slowing down," says Dr. Harley L. Lutz, tax consultant to the National Association of Manufacturers.

"In Dr. Alvin Hansen's words, it may be moving into the stage of an 'old, tired boom.'"

Professor Lutz is concerned with curing the "fatigue and senescence" of the present period of prosperity. But he sternly rejects that medicine known as the Golden Syrup of Government Spending.

And right he is. The artificial stimulant of forced inflation, compounded of an unfavorable balance of trade, subsidies and a topheavy military establishment, ultimately weakens the body economic to a dangerous degree.

It prohibits debt reduction, it necessitates debilitating taxes, it threatens a return to that vicious addiction, deficit financing.

"There is not enough fiscal adrenalin in more (government) spending," Professor Lutz declares, "to offset the loss of blood from heavier taxation."

"Healthy rejuvenation can only occur through a reduction of government burdens."

And what do we see? An ever-expanding governmental payroll. The greatest peacetime military budget in American history. Grandiose plans to rearm all Western Europe. Proposals for costly social security schemes and health insurance.

Our tired old boom is becoming more aged and more weary by the minute. For our fiscal doctors in Washington we offer a new term: quackpots.

An Indiana man drove his auto into a truck loaded with dynamite, but it didn't go off. People drive across railroad tracks without looking, too.

Jewelry thefts indicate that even burglars are breaking into society.

SATURDAY ROUNDUP OF ODDS AND ENDS

Madera: What about the word decadent? A friend insists that I accent the first syllable. Must I?—Mrs. E. F. S.

A. There is no "must" in this beautiful land of free speech. The first choice of practically all modern dictionaries, and the Standard American pronunciation, is: de-KAY-d'nt. The second choice DEK-uh-d'nt was given a brief vogue by the late F. D. R., but it is being heard less frequently as time goes on. I like de-KAY-d'nt because it is strongly suggestive of the word decay. The other pronunciation is not.

Buffalo: Is it correct to end the word sacrifice with a "fiss" sound?—J. W. G.

A. No. We do hear "SAK-ri-fiss," but no authority sanctions it. The correct pronunciation rhymes the third syllable with "ice, mice."

North Granville: I have always used the title "Director of Music." But now I'm being told that it should be "Directress of Music." Will you please comment?—Mrs. F. W. P.

A. Director is no more a masculine word than doctor, editor, author, sculptor. The feminine suffix -ess was once in general use, but it survives today in only a few words—actress, waitress, enchantress, heiress, princess, sorceress, etc.

Brownsville: I've come across the expression "forty dollars a month and found." Will you please explain the "found" part?—R. C. B.

A. It's an old expression that has become obsolete. This particular found means "with food and lodgings furnished in addition to the wages."

Rent Control Is Hot Potato

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington. — It is like seeing an old newsreel played over again. History does repeat itself and in a strikingly exact sort of way. Unless the new rent control bill is drastically rewritten in conference between the two houses, which at this moment seems unlikely, President Truman is going to be faced with a tough decision. The question — to veto or not to veto — is like the one he faced when congress passed and sent to the White House in 1946 a bill cutting the heart out of OPA.

The president vetoed the first bill renewing OPA in such an enfeebled fashion that, as he said in his veto message, it was worse than nothing. The second he signed when his leaders in the senate and house told him he could get nothing better and it was sign or let OPA die.

OPA FIGHT RECALLED That, it will be recalled, was when the enemies of OPA were insisting that decontrol would inevitably mean lower prices. For 18 days, before the second emasculated measure became law, there were no controls. They were never effectively restored and the cost of living began to soar upward.

A lot of the same kind of double talk has come out in connection with rent control. The president's chief advisers are supplying him with facts which they believe show (1) That the net effect of senate and house decontrol amendments is to shatter rent control, and (2) That the shattering of rent control will further throw the nation's economy out of balance.

Under the various concessions made to landlords, many of them justified in a great number of instances, rents have been slowly creeping upward during the past year. Rents were at an all-time peak for the most recent month — January — for which figures are available.

The index on rent for January this year was four points higher than in January of 1948. From November to December of last year the index jumped almost a point. This, mind you, was under present rent control.

The analysis reaching the president's desk shows that this rise has tended to wipe out the slight drop in the cost of food that occurred since the all-time peak in the cost of living last August. Rent is 15 to 20 per cent of the budget of the average householder.

The net decline in the cost of living since the peak has been only two per cent. It is still 73 per cent above the prewar base.

WOULD INCREASE LIVING COSTS It requires no genius in economics and statistics to see what will happen if rent control is shattered or abolished. Estimates are that it would advance from 5 to 9 per cent a month over a period of several months to a year. This would mean an advance in the cost of living index of 1 to 1½ per cent a month.

Again neither a genius nor a crystal-gazer is necessary to forecast what would happen under such an advance. It would touch off new wage demands which could very well start the inflationary spiral upward. This would come at a time when a number of low income families have already been priced out of the market. In short, it would encourage the kind of inflation-deflation that invites depression.

The gimmick the White House advisers are most fearful of is the amendment tacked on in the house, of which Rep. Paul Brown of Georgia was author. That has an innocent-enough sound, assuring the landlord a reasonable return on a reasonable investment.

In actual practice the Brown amendment would create an almost hopeless administrative angle. The big landlords with large resources of wealth would be able to stop any tenant protests in the courts. The little landlord, not having such resources and an many cases really needing relief, would not get it.

Faced with the March 31 deadline, when rent controls expire, the administration has shown extraordinarily bad timing. Bringing up the civil-rights issue at the start of the session precipitated the southern filibuster. That was ready-made for the persistent, powerful, tireless real estate lobby.

Millions of families are watching anxiously to see what congress does about rent control. They may not understand the talk about states decontrolling or cities decontrolling. But they will certainly understand when the landlord hikes the rent 10 per cent or 25 per cent. They will know that postwar history is repeating itself in a peculiarly grim and unpleasant fashion.

As Pasadena: You have gone too far with your "American" pronunciation of divorcee as "di-vore-SEE." I can't find it in any dictionary. I have never heard any other pronunciation than di-vore-SAY.—L. C. L. A. You'll find divorcee pronounced di-vore-SEE in Webster's New International, the New Century, Winston's, the American College Dictionary, Thorndike Century, Kenyon and Knott's, and Funk and Wagnalls New College Standard.

The "ee" sound of divorcee follows the long-established pattern of such words as employee, absentee, assignee, consignee, refugee, addressee, licensee, referee, appointee, devotee, mortgagee, nominee, etc. And what's wrong with that?

FINERY—This is the spring season of fine feathers on humans and bedraggled feathers on birds of a less elegant kind. Shops are featuring Easter hats like hanging gardens of Babylon, and apparently no fashionable head will be complete without a full representation of roses, violets, snapdragons, and other flowers. Although it must be admitted that hats with ruffles, veiling and certain other decorative but indecipherable items are also available. "This spring you can wear almost any kind of hat you wish," says one style expert. That is encouraging. Now we can wear the same old sweat-stained felt we have worn since 1943.

Definitely we are not inclined to join the Easter parade in a new number announced in New York. It has a tiny built-in radio set powered by small batteries, with a jaunty aerial perched in the rear.

THE CRITICS—It must be admitted that the radio hat was designed by a man, which will bring an "I thought so" chorus from the gentler sex. Further, it must be admitted that most of the hats on the market today are the product of men's imaginations. Why men should take to hat designing like a duck takes to water we will never understand, since men are supposed to be the chief critics of ladies' hats.

Men have always enjoyed jokes about women's hats, and will gleefully repeat them. Example: Wife—"I just have to get a new hat whenever I'm in the dumps." Husband—"So that's where they come from!"

AS DECORATION—Somehow in the dim past of human experience a cavewoman—or perhaps it was a caveman—covered his (or her) head with a piece of hide from the three-toed horse to keep off the rain. This was greeted with grunts of astonishment by fellow members of the tribe, who had always draped skins around their middle.

The hat of skins not only kept off the rain but shaded the eyes and was worn more extensively. Then some individual with an eye for line, form, and color, experimented with different hides cut in unusual shapes. He—or she—may have, in a festive mood, tucked a sprig of heather in this aboriginal bonnet.

Not to be outdone in the effort to attract attention other dawn-age humans followed the example or improved on it. Hat styles were born.

UTILITY ITEM—Many centuries later, at least in fashionable society, the hat lost all semblance of usefulness and became entirely ornamental. In the Middle Ages ladies wore hats that came to a conical peak several feet above and to the rear of their heads. Draped from these were long veils. The general effect was that of a small sail boat heeled over in a stiff breeze.

Hats with wide brims, narrow brims, no crown, no brim, and at times almost no hat have come and gone in the world of fashion.

It has been only within recent times that hats have begun to attract attention for their simplicity. The demure little bonnet is as eye-catching as the more ornate atrocities—and often more ex-

Freedom through the ages has been an inspiring word and freedom itself is a glorious thing. It is worth your while and mine to talk about freedom. If you don't have it to pass on to the next generation, now is the time to talk.—Dr. John A. Krout, director, School of General Studies, Columbia University.

SERVED THE PURPOSE—For those not in fashion hats have been valued as head coverings for many centuries.

Pioneer women climbed mountains, crossed the plains, cleared forests, worked in the fields—their heads covered either by sun-bonnets or shawls. Both were firmly tied beneath the chin. Such headgear was equally appropriate for church-going.

Their menfolk of the pioneering class chose a jaunty number of coonskin, the tail of the animal draped coyly down the back of neck; or a felt hat that in the Old West became almost a tradition. Farther to the north, in the Michigan area, the wool cap was popular for winter wear, and French Canadian woodsmen wore a long knitted affair we know as the "stocking cap."

AND OF TODAY—The American people indulge in a variety of head coverings, some for utility and some for ornament. None attract attention when worn for the purpose for which they were made.

The frilly flowered affair on the lady of fashion will be seen on the street passing the striped cotton cap that has become an identification of a railroadman; and the small boy will whirl past with a "propeller" cap, while his mother wraps her head in a gaily-colored scarf.

Men wear a variety of caps and hats, and for wintertime both men and women find protection under hooded coats and jackets.

This spring, therefore, or almost any springtime, you can wear the hat you wish and still be in fashion—depending upon your need or your whimsy.

New York (AP)—Nobody in the boxing game today can lay a glove on battling Jack Golomb, age 56, weight 125.

But many a ring champion in the last 38 years —from flyweight to heavyweight —has crumbled and gone down from the crashing impact of Golomb's own flying gloves.

A few: Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, Barney Ross, Max Baer, Henry Armstrong, Gene Tunney, Primo Carnera, and—yes, even Joe Louis.

This would give Golomb the mightiest record in ring history except for the fact that in none of these memorable fights were Jack's own fists in his gloves.

He merely made the gloves and sold them. Long ago the little Latvian immigrant decided that, for him at least, there was more money in putting boxing gloves on other people's fists than on his own.

Golomb reached this decision as a 90-pound kid after fighting four times as an amateur.

"I had a fifty-fifty record," he said. "I win two, lose two."

But today he claims 95 per cent of all modern champions have trained or fought with his gloves. And he built up a $1,000,000-a-year sports equipment business from a $5 investment. He got the $5 from his father in 1910.

"They were tough and rugged in those days," he said. "They weren't soft like many fighters today. A box was proud of a cauliflower ear—it was the badge of his profession. The glove was little more than a piece of leather over his knuckles. The training bag was a sailor's duffle bag filled with sawdust."

Golomb pioneered or helped develop many of the safeguards now used to protect boxers—such as the headguard, rubber teeth protector, face mask, plastic foul-proof cup protector and modern training glove.

"The trouble at first was in getting them to use 'em," he said. "Many oldtime fighters thought they were silly."

Golomb thinks present-day fighters get hurt because they don't take their training as seriously as the oldtimers. Jack Dempsey is his own hero and in his opinion the best heavyweight of all time.

"Dempsey used to harden his hands before every fight by soaking them in slaughterhouse brine," he said. "He used to wash his face in it, even, to toughen himself against cuts."

"A fighter today would want cologne in the brine."

The honeymoon of good feeling for veterans is over. We have had loose use of figures on the cost of the veteran. And these costs have not been reconciled with the cost of other things that our great and munificent government has seen fit to spend money for.—Robert M. McCurdy, vice president, American Legion Rehabilitation Commission.

Your officials in Washington are determined that atomic energy shall be used for humanity's sake, and hope and pray that it shall never have to be used otherwise. Builders, not destroyers, Americans will not fail a world yearning for harmony and peace.—Attorney General Clark.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Insiders credit wise old Chief Justice Fred Vinson for the meek and mild way his friend Harry Truman came back to Washington.

It was the sagacious chief justice, they say, who sat on the beach at Key West during the days when the president was receiving his worst defeats and gently gave him counsel about how to get along with congress.

Probably no one outside of Bess Truman has more influence with the president than the chief justice. He has stuck with him at all times, especially when the going was tough. He never gets ruffled, never goes off on tangents, always puts the country's interests first.

Furthermore, no one else around Truman is in better position to guide him on the problem of getting along with congress. Vinson spent long years in the house of representatives, worked his way up to a place of powerful leadership, then became a court of appeals judge, and stepped down from the bench to help the Roosevelt administration during the war emergency.

As a result, Vinson knows just about all the gamuts of government. And while he realizes Harry Truman's failings he never talks about them, is completely loyal.

Vinson is one who believes you can't win a fight with congress by losing your temper. So, while loafing on the beach at Key West he diplomatically got across his ideas on congressional — presidential teamwork. The president listened, and came back a soothed man.

GENERAL VAUGHAN SCORES

Gen. Harry Vaughan, the president's jovial military aide, was out of luck when it came to a U. S. loan to his admirer, Dictator Peron of Argentina. However, it looks as if Harry had quietly scored an interesting victory close at home.

Milton Kronheim, Jr., a prominent Washington liquor dealer and close friend of Vaughan's, has just been appointed a municipal court judge for the District of Columbia.

One interesting angle about this appointment is that during OPA days, the biggest blackmarketing fine ever paid was by Kronheim and Son, the very same liquor dealers. They paid the large total of $200,000, though Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Ferguson of Michigan said it wasn't enough and raised cain because they did not go to jail.

Now, the son, Milton Kronheim, Jr., who was in the liquor firm at that time, has been appointed to an important Washington judgeship.

Vaughan and the Kronheims make no secret of their close friendship. Only recently at the Jackson-Jefferson day dinner, the president's military aide set with them at the same table. And on the presidential special train to the Army — Navy game in Philadelphia a year ago Vaughan, Kronheim, Sr., and John Maragon, another pal of Vaughan's, rode in the same compartment. Compartments on the president's special are obtained only by a very few.

John Maragon, an ex-bootlegger, is another intimate of Vaughan's, who always seems to have ample supply of liquor on hand. Aftable Milton Kronheim, Sr., when once asked whether he kept Vaughan in supply, modestly admitted: "The general touches me for a bottle now and then."

Government officials have long wondered why Vaughan took such an interest in the liquor business. During food-saving days when the distillers were in a tight grain ration, Vaughan had the nerve to call up the office of Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson and demand in stentorian tones that the whisky dealers' grain quota not be cut.

However, the Kronheim family and associates contributed $15,000 to the Democratic party in the last campaign, with only $100 to Dewey. And when Kronheim, Jr., a likable young man, came before the senate judiciary committee Senator Ferguson, his old critic, did not object.

Note—Kronheims also furnish liquor for Democratic shindigs.

MICHIGAN SCANDALS

Some significant campaign contributions have cropped up in Michigan as a result of the senate election committee's probe of Senator Homer Ferguson. The interesting question is whether $17,400 paid by Preston Tucker allegedly to hush up the Ferguson probe of the Tucker automobile scandal ever got back to finance Ferguson's campaign.

On Oct. 12 this column revealed some sensational facts regarding the sudden manner in which the Tucker automobile probe was dropped like a hot potato by Ferguson who at that time headed the senate's most important investigating committee. A little over $17,000 was paid by Tucker to Mrs. Dudley Hay, then Republican national committeewoman from Michigan and secretary of the G. O. P. national committee.

At that very moment Ferguson had investigators in the Tucker plant in Chicago making a thorough probe and was reported ready to hold public hearings.

But on May 9, 1947, Mrs. Hay came to Washington, called Ferguson's secret phone number which few people had; then, again in Washington May 15-16, again called the capital several times; returned to Washington again June 1 and called Ferguson's private number twice. Again, on June 11, Mrs. Hay returned to Washington and twice called Ferguson's private number. Simultaneously Tucker was in Washington.

Shortly thereafter Ferguson's probe of Tucker was dropped.

Tips for getting more warmth and pleasure from a wood-burning fireplace are supplied by foresters of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Ashes kept level with the andirons will provide a bed of glowing charcoal, which helps to maintain a steady heat. The experts recommend using both split and whole round logs and both soft and hard wood for a fire. Split wood kindles rapidly, round logs keep fire burning steadily. Soft woods like pine make a quick, hot fire; hard woods burn longer.

FOR BETTER LIVING

Compact Home Offers Three Bedrooms

The JEWETT

The increasing demand from prospective home builders for a one story house that contains three bedrooms, and can be built on a 40 foot front lot, is met by the Home of the Week Plan Service, with the neat little plan it presents today.

With over-all dimensions of 26 x 41 feet, this house, "The Jewett" has a total cubage of 18,500 feet. This figure could be reduced, with a proportionate reduction in construction costs, by limiting cellar excavation to the area beneath the kitchen and bathroom.

In the room plan shown, the 10 x 10 foot room adjoining the living room may be utilized either as a dining room or as a third bedroom. This room has a door leading to an inner hall that connects with the kitchen, bath and the two bedrooms at the rear of the house. A good sized linen closet and a broom closet are provided in this hall.

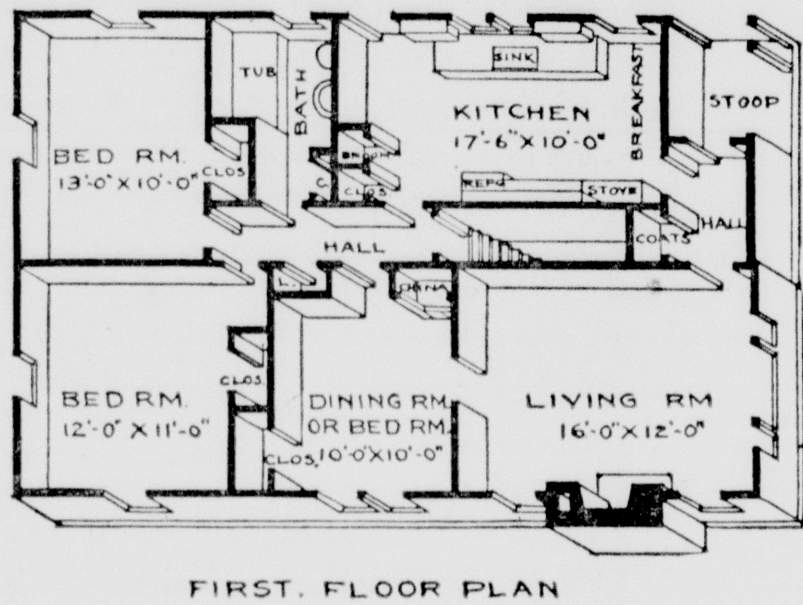

Economical to Heat
"The Jewett" should be an economical house to heat. It has already been suggested that the cellar excavation be made under the kitchen and bath only. In that case, instead of the outside chimney shown in the sketch, a central chimney that is less expensive to construct could be used.

The fireplace in the livingroom would then be placed in the inside wall and connected with the central chimney. With integral heating ducts incorporated in the fireplace, heat from the fireplace could be directed into the adjoining bedroom and to the kitchen, warming those rooms in Spring and Fall.

Almost any material or combination of materials would look well as an exterior finish on this type of house. Brick, shingles, clapboard or stone would be equally attractive.

Entrance to the house is gained via the porch, which can be screened in if so desired. The entrance door opens into a vestibule with a clothes closet and an arched opening into the living room straight ahead, and a door leading into the kitchen.

Measuring 12 x 16 feet in floor dimensions, the living room has a group of three windows as its dominant feature. Two other good sized windows, which may have built-in bookcases under them, flank the Colonial fireplace and give additional light. Shifting the fireplace to the inside, as suggested, would result in no appreciable disturbance of balance in this room.

Spacious Kitchen
The kitchen, 17' 6" x 10' in floor area, is well planned and there is plenty of space for the refrigerator, range, a built-in ironing board, wall cabinets, and a working counter. The sink is located in the working counter directly under a window. Beside the working counter there is a wall space for a drop-leaf table between the broom closet and the door to the service entrance.

The dining alcove is sufficiently large to hold an ordinary dining room suite. A window gives the alcove good light and cross ventilation.

The two bedrooms at the back of the house measures 11' x 12' and 10' x 13' respectively. Each room has windows on two sides and each contains a large coat closet.

If the lot is wide enough, a semi-attached garage, with a connecting breezeway off the service entry, might be added.

GOOD OLD SAM HAS TROUBLES

Fame And Woes Mixed With Nickel Beer

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—There is a pretty important man named Sam Atkins living in this town right now. Sam was never very important when he was a soldier in the first World War, or when he was a fireman in New Jersey, or when he was working in war plant protection during the last mess.

Sam didn't draw much water during the last four years, either, when he ran his own saloon in one of the poorer streets in the Lower East Side. It was just a saloon, like any other modest saloon in the unglorious parts of New York—a smoky cave with kids playing stickball out front, and a few bums dropping in to cage a free snort, and the neighborhood guys coming around to talk baseball and grouse about their wives.

Sam's saloon didn't even have a television set.

Then all of a sudden Sam got important. Sam did an unprecedented thing. Sam shook the entire social structure of his town, to where it wobbled at the roots.

10c to 5c for Beer
Sam reduced the price of beer from ten cents a glass to a nickel a glass.

Just think, a whole glass of beer for only a nickel!

Sam figured soundly. He says he used to make, at 10 cents a glass, a whole six bucks on a half barrel of brew. But he didn't sell many half barrels. Money, says Sam, was getting tighter in his neighborhood. Ardent beer-bibbers didn't have the cash they used to have, when the war plants were booming and the sailors were in from the sea.

So Sam figured that if he could sell ten times as much beer at half the profit, he would be doing a lot better. People in the St. Mark's Place neighborhood would be a lot less thirsty.

So Sam slashed the price of beer to a single, homely jitney. And the world beat a path to his door.

First it was the customers. They even came over from New Jersey, to marvel at and to drink that ancient wonder, a nickel beer. Then the reporters heard about it, and Sam scarcely had time to draw a glassful for answering questions plied by inquisitive young men with wads of yellow copy paper in their fists.

Think of it! In this world of the sundred atom, the germ-killing fungus, the guided missile, a burly man in a Lower East Side semi-slum is suddenly famous, famous for voluntarily reducing the price of eight ounces of hops and malt.

Sam Was Televised
A television show claimed him as an oddity, but his patrons couldn't see him on the show. The customers stood six deep in his little cellar pub. Prosperity came to Sam.

But with prosperity came the penalties of fame and riches. First it was his fellow saloon keepers. They didn't like the way Sam was selling beer. Bread out of their mouths, they said.

So they got together with some big brewers, and they pulled a force-out. The brewers told Sam they couldn't supply him any longer. Pressure from the competition. So Sam had to go into the hot beer business. He is buying his suds on the side, now, at stepped-up prices.

But he kept selling it for a nickel. So at 3 p. m. last Wednesday afternoon, pickets, from the Bartenders' Local No. 15— they showed up with "unfair" signs on their shoulders. Not unfair to the brewers. Not unfair to the customers, who cheer Sam on. Unfair to the bartenders. Coincidence?

Their complaint is that Sam hires a barmaid. The union is against barmaids—even though this one, a pretty girl named Helen Johnson, is Sam's niece. Sam always ran a family business. His assistant, Sam Hoch, is his cousin. Sam Hoch says he is a member of the Barkeepers' Union.

During the four years Sam Atkins has run his bar, always using female help, the unions never bothered him before, he says. They were only after the big groghops. Now they want him to fire his niece and hire two union-scale barkeepers, or they will keep picketing him, scaring off customers and making beer delivery more and more difficult.

Sam Atkins is only trying to run his own business his own way, at a small profit, eminently suitable to himself and to his customers. Sam Atkins says he won't knuckle down. But Sam Atkins has nothing but trouble today.

And all he ever did was cut the price of a glass of beer.

PRINCE BERTIL DECLINES BID

Won't Attend "Sweden In Music" Concert

By MRS. HERMAN G. NELSON

Stockholm, Sweden, (By Air Mail)—Prince Bertil of Sweden has declined an invitation to come to the United States to participate in a "Sweden In Music" concert for the benefit of the Swedish Seamen's Welfare fund to be held in Carnegie hall, Monday, April 11, but Axel Gjores, former member of the Swedish cabinet and chairman of the Swedish Pioneer Centennial committee in Sweden last year, has accepted the invitation.

Prince Bertil is honorary chairman of the fund, which will be devoted to the improvement of housing and recreation facilities for Swedish seamen in American ports, and he has indicated he may accept the invitation to attend the dedication ceremonies in 1950 connected with the new Swedish seamen's home in Brooklyn.

Gjores was unable to come to the United States last year for the centennial because of his duties as secretary of commerce in the Swedish cabinet but plans now to spend approximately a month in the United States. He is general director of the welfare board of the Swedish commerce fleet. While in the United States, Gjores also will become a part of the Swedish delegation at the United Nations meeting at Lake Success.

Meets Mrs. Van Zandt

It was my privilege this week to meet in Stockholm Mrs. Lydia Van Zandt of Washington, D. C., who stopped in Stockholm on her way to attend an international women's congress for the middle east in Beirut. Women of 15 nations will attend and Mrs. Van Zandt will represent the Women's Action Committee for Lasting Peace. She is on the speakers' research committee for the U. N. She has lectured in most parts of the United States and plans to be back in the United States to attend the annual convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs in Miami, Fla., to be held in April.

She will fly from Stockholm via Rome and on to Damascus and Beirut. She was to have breakfast in London and dinner Rome. She had flown to Sweden by Scandinavian Airlines System plane and was met by newsmen and newswomen at Grand hotel in Stockholm.

She reported that 11 countries have given women the right to vote during the past three years.

I read in the Embassy News, which is sent to my home here daily by the American Embassy, that Congress has approved the bid of the United States to stage the world's 1956 Olympics in Detroit, Mich. The Olympic committee meets in April in Rome to discuss plans for the 1952 games scheduled for Helsinki, Finland.

When I was in Sweden in 1930 with my husband, we met Dr. Manfred Bjorkquist at Sigtuna, where he was one of Sweden's great spiritual forces. Since then he has become Bishop of the Stockholm 'stift.'

Bishop Bjorkquist recalled our visit with him in his Sigtuna office when I met him this week at a service he conducted at the Arsta chapel, where my daughters and I have been attending church services. Following the service, I with others was invited to the home of the pastor of the Arsta church chapel to drink tea with him. It was mentioned that the smallest parish in the Stockholm 'stift' has only 107 members while the largest, the Brannkyrka parish, in which we live and the Arsta chapel is a part, has 107,000 members. I have come to appreciate the sincerity and spirituality of the Swedish clergymen. I told the Arsta pastor, Komminister Bror Colstrup, that he had come to mean as much to me as my own pastor back home.

I also met Anders Frostenson, hymn writer. He has nine hymns in the Swedish "psalmbok" and has been chosen to be "kyrkoherde" at Lovo parish at Dolvingholm starting April 1. My speaking engagements in schools and churches have been rather many of late but it is fun meeting people. They are so very appreciative. Emil Larsson, chairman of the Maria parish young people's central organization, just called to invite me to be their speaker at an annual meeting on March 30. They want me to speak for an hour. It is composed of all the organizations in the parish concerned with youth and children's work.

Spring must be just around the corner in Stockholm because workmen were busy this week putting up the outdoors eating verandas at the Opera house and Grand hotel. Since it has been snowing a little this week. One newspaper humorously remarked that they could better have been put up last January. The Stockholm winter has been mild.

Sweden is looking forward to a record tourist season, both from the United States and from other countries.

Hotel prices, which have been lower than in the United States, are being raised in Sweden for the tourist season May 15 to Sept. 15 by about 20 per cent but hotels which raise their prices must reserve 75 per cent of their rooms for foreign tourists. In this way, the number of hotel rooms available for visitors from other countries will be increased.

Women's Club To Feature Puppet Show At Meeting

Manistique Women's Club members and their children will enjoy the annual "Mother's and Children's Day," Tuesday, March 29. Members children from three years through the sixth grade are invited.

The program will be a puppet show, "Hansel and Gretel." Much time and care have been spent on making these puppets with their hand carved heads and hands. They are hand painted and hand decorated. The committee making them consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Makel, Mr. and Mrs. W. Moreau, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Thompson and Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Anderson. E. J. Thompson directed. The stage was "constructed" by Barney Johnson, E. J. Thompson, Bud Malloy, and Mrs. William Norton.

Mrs. Sidney Bower and Mrs. Robert Schmeling assisted in dressing the dolls. The dolls will be manipulated by Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Makel, Mrs. Moreau and Mrs. Anderson. This is the first attempt that the club has made at anything of this sort and it is hoped that more members will become interested in the work. They would like to build a permanent collection for future entertainment.

First Robins of Season Arrive In City Friday

Robins are back! The voice of Mrs. Edith Parker, 523 Garden avenue, was a happy one as she reported tidings Friday morning that she had seen two of these welcome summer tourists in her yard. "Their plumage was just beautiful," she enthused, "and they were chirping as though they were happy as could be."

These birds were real robins—not the kind that winter up along Lake Superior. There was no mistaking their chirp, she said.

Children at the Miller school were also excited at seeing a pair of robins and seeing them partake of the bread crumbs they set out for them.

A new kind of baby bottle—collapsible and disposable—which, according to its producers, will revolutionize infant feeding, has been announced.

Drunken Driver Pleads Guilty In Justice Court

Garrett Fillhard, of Manton, pleaded guilty in justice court Friday morning before Judge W. G. Stephens, to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Judge Stephens, in pronouncing sentence, gave the defendant the alternative of paying a $50 fine and costs or spending thirty days in jail. He chose the jail sentence.

Fillhard's companion, Frank Soppel, also of Manton, also

Local Lutheran Church District Reports Gains

A membership gain of three and a half per cent for churches within the Superior conference (Upper Michigan and northern Wisconsin) of Augustana Lutheran church was reported by the Rev. G. A. Herbert, conference secretary and statistician, at a meeting of the conference executive board held in Commercial Bank Building at Iron Mountain this week. The session was held principally to prepare agenda for the annual convention of the Superior conference at Merrill, Wis., May 3-6.

Rev. Herbert reported the greatest number of improvements on local church properties, during 1948, than for many years past. Improvements were made in the amount of $102,300.98 twice the amount expended in 1947. Total expenditures amounted to $373,901.01. The per capita contributions were higher than the previous year, the highest being made in the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula.

The proposed budget of $46,595 for missionary, charitable, educational, administrative, and social welfare programs during 1950 represents a seven per cent increase over 1948, reflecting the steady expansion of all services within the church body. Improvements were also recommended for Fortune Lake Bible Camp in Iron County, owned by the conference.

"Board members were greatly encouraged over the increased membership during the past year, and the implied increase in interest concerning the work and affairs of the church throughout the conference," said Rev. Herbert after returning home from the meeting.

Club Favors Giving Archers Chance To Get Antlerless Deer

That the taking of antlerless deer by archers during the regular archers' deer season should be allowed in Delta county was the view endorsed by resolution by the Minnecassan Sportsmen's club in regular session at the city hall Thursday night.

Approximately one hundred persons were present at the session which was marked by the showing of an interesting Frank (Bring 'em Back Alive) Buck sound picture.

At present there is a proposal before the state legislature to open many more counties, including Delta, for the taking of antlerless deer by archers each fall. Many counties in the Upper Peninsula are already open.

Views on the proposal were received from both archers and riflemen and Howard Eldred, Escanaba, game manager for this area for the Michigan Conservation Commission, gave some figures on the deer kill in the Upper Peninsula, including counties in which it has been legal to kill does during the archery season. The total kill was very light, it was revealed.

In voting on the motion to endorse opening of the season on antlerless deer, not a single dissenting vote was cast.

After Mr. Eldred had provided some information on Australian hares showing that where introduced in Canada and New York they had become a nuisance and highly destructive necessitating the taking of action to exterminate them the club decided not to seek their importation and planting in this area, as a game animal.

At a previous meeting it had been suggested that the club look into the feasibility of planting the big hares in this locality.

Eldred said the hares' feeding habits had resulted in making winter deer food scarce, cutting the deer population; they also had proven destructive to farm orchards.

The Leafs, thanks to Harry Watson, took the Bruins, who wound up second in the regular campaign, into camp twice at Boston, 3-0, and 3-2. Watson scored two goals in each game.
Fur is expected to fly when the Red Wings and Canadiens clash for the first time in Montreal. The teams divided two hard fought overtime games in Detroit during which 39 penalties were called.

Hardwares, Waits Cop City Basketball Championships

VFW Bow Out, 73-67; Arcades Fall Before Last Quarter Rally

The Delta Hardwares continued their superiority over the VFW's despite the latter's procurement of a pair of potent Johnny-comelatelys in the persons of Jack Finn and Bob Ranguette. The Hardwares won, 73-67, in the finale of the American league basketball tournament here last night.

Wait Window copped the National league championship with a fourth-quarter spurt that left the Arcades Alleys groggy. The final score was 51-44. Arcades led 27-22 at the half and 37-33 at the third quarter, and then the roof fell on the Alleys and the only thing left standing at the final bell was a Wait Window.

The Waits piled on 18 points while holding the Arcades to seven in the final period to pull the game out of the fire. Ed Hendrickson led Wait with 20 points, and Joe Fridgen topped the Alleys with 23 counters.

Consistency from the free throw line was a big factor in Hardwares' triumph over VFW. It wasn't the only factor, by any means, but it was a big one. With Tom St. Germain setting the pace on seven for seven, the Hardwares converted 15 of 19 charity tosses. That helps in a 73-67 ball game. The Vets made 13 of 24.

But it was the Hardwares' polish teamwork with a season's polishing behind it proved too much for the Vets' late assemblage of potent basketball talent. The Hardwares led 18-17 at the quarter and 43-31 at the half. They held a 60-43 lead going into the final quarter when the Vets came through with their strongest bid of the game. They poured 24 points through the hoops to 13 for the victors.

Reliable Bob Dufour topped the scorers with eight buckets and four free throws for 20 points. Only one point away was teammate St. Germain, thanks to his seven for seven feat from the free throw line, and VFW's Jack Finn. Ranguette contributed 16 points to the veterans' cause.

BOWLING

Honor counts in the Escanaba Elks Women's league were posted by Marcella Saums 189, Edna Reynolds 183, Elaine Morton 182 and Ceal Ferguson 177. Marcella brought in the 3-7, and Lorraine Schultz converted the 5-10.

In the Escanaba City league, Lloyd Brown led with a 214 and John Schiska was only a pin behind. Other top scores were Steve Fraddo's 207 and 200s by Chuck Johnston and Evans Bergquist.

It was one of those rough weeks in the Escanaba Delta. No 200 scores were posted, but there was plenty of fancy split work. For instance, Ernie LaCrosse picked up the 5-7-9-10—not once, but twice—and Hans Kleiman picked up the same combination in the same match and brought in the 2-4-7-10 for good measure. Not to be outdone, Milton Lueburg converted the 5-7.

Two hundred plussers in the Escanaba league were Wink Curtis 208, Jim O'Donnell 204 and Harold Bruce 202.

Escanaba Paper company defeated Manistique Pulp and Paper company by 76 pins in a special match at the Arcade. Here's how it went: One Manistique team won by two pins, another by 107 pins but the Escanaba team of Milkovich-Wicklander, Estebo-Elegreet-Kraiger came through with a 185-pin victory to save the day for the Deltas.

Bill Krager had 539 for high, and according to a usually reliable source from the Escanaba Paper company, Earl LaBrasseur of Manistique had low single game, but since no one wants to verify the score, it cannot be listed.

Split artists at the regular Paper Mill league session were Sam Bellanca 5-7, Gus Maycunich 4-7-10, George Milkovich 5-10, Runar Beck 7-8, Chet Schram 5-8-10, Don Estebo 4-7-10, Lloyd Baker 5-8-10 and Bill Pfister 6-8-10.

Here's another special match! Harry Gafner hit 601 and Greg Schneller 560 to lead L. & R. to a 2734-2718 win over Marquette Shoreland at the latter's alley March 20. The Escanabans had to hit a 990 finale to cop the winning margin. Marquette rolled a 961 its third game. Other L. & R. scores were Ed Gravelle 541, Ray Wahowiak 518 and Phil Brazeau 504.

Add women's honor counts: Lucille Beyersdorf 195 and Rita Curran 173, and Elaine Niemi spared the 7-8-6-10 leave.

Bill Hanson sparked play in Escanaba Classic this week with a 243 single and 620 match. Other Classic 200-plussers were Bill Bougie 201, Gil Kangas 209, Harry Gafner 206, Arvid Isaacson 218, Augie Gafner 202, Joe Radmacher 211, Pat Christensen 222, Don Feller 215, Pat MacPherson 217, Carl Sawyer 233 and Joe Klinger 203-208.

Having the high team match of 2436 to its credit, the Cities Service quintet is leading the Chatham's men's league with 19 wins and eight losses. Kennedy Roofers and Hot Shots are tied for second at 17-10. Leading averages are Leonard Latvala 167, Charles Maki and Edwin Pelkki with 160, Leo Lammi 158 and F. Dwyer 157.

Current top average men at the Manistique BPOE are Malcolm Nelson 193, Ed Buech 189, Harrison LaFolite 189, Francis Kasun, O. J. Schuster 187, Ossie Smiths 185, John Kasun 183, Fred Hahne 182, Carl Carlson 180 and Barney Johnson 177.

LaFolite boosted his average from 180 to 189 with a 652 blast on games of 216-203-233, and Jack (Scrappy) Williams boosted his stock with a fine 222-205-181-608.

Two hundred plussers up Manistique way were Bud Malloy 246, O. J. Schuster 225, Al Farley 221, Bernard Chaudoir 214-224, George Babladis 213, Malcolm Nelson 212-210, Freddy Christensen 209, Ralph (Buck) Williams 207, John Kasun 205-203-202, John Girvin 205, Kenny Van Eyck 204, Fred Hahne 203, Joe Kovach 201, Barney Johnson 223-200, Jack Quick 256, Emery Barnes 230, Pete Stannuss 214-203, John Kelly 210, Art Cockram 206, Don McNally 205, Dr. E. J. Brenner 203-202, Harvey Quick 203, George Mero 203, Carl Carlson 201 and Bill Stephens 200.

The Manistique lassies really went to town in their fifth annual bowling tourney this season. Babe Carpenter covered herself with glory with 603 in team play, 587 in singles and 505 in doubles competition.

High scores posted in team play were June LaFrenier 201, Lorraine Slining 193, Ruth LaFolite 193, Arlene McNamara 192, Lois Cameron 191, Evelyn Lofgren 191, Hilda Paquette 191, Mary Rankin 188, Ann Gorsche 184, Helen Smith 183 and Sylvia Philion 180.

High games in doubles were as follows: Katherine Nelson 211-205, Lois Cameron 193, Ellen Stephens 190, Sylvia Philion 198, Josephine Buech 187, Geraldine Gorsche 187 and Vera Seidell 187-186 and in singles we give you La Babe 212-202, Helen Smith 195, Ver Seidell 192, Lorraine Slining 189, Pat Kasun 189, Ruth LaFolite 188 John Hayden 187, Ellen Stephens 184, June LaFrenier 182 and May Carlson 180-181.

Other 500 series in Manistique women's team play were Eva Klarich 540, Mary Wood 535, Vera Seidell 526, Lois Cameron 524, Evelyn Lofgren 524, Ruth LaFolite 520, Hilda Paquette 519, Arlene McNamara 508 and Sylvia Philion and Arvela Bauers 507.

George Minne topped the Holy Namers in Gladstone with 239, followed by Allan Gillis, Jr., 210, Clarence Carriere 205, and Anton Raspor 207. Arthur LeGault put together 199-210-231 for 640, and Jim Kennedy picked up the 6-10-7.

Bernard LaPointe had 209, L. Hagman 220 and Walter Lund 204 in Gladstone Delta league play, and in the National Francis Krout hit 202, Art LeGault 204-206, Bill Skellenger, 229, Tom Hite 227, Ray Long 211, Art Skoglund 214 and Charley Hoffos 201.

That red-hot L. & R. quintet set a high of 1060 in all Gladstone leagues, and Harry Gafner is still perturbed with himself for not getting a higher score himself to boost that 1060 up. Harry had a mediocre 165, but his mates were warm. Greg Schneller hit 210, Ed Gravelle 238, Phil Brazeau 222 and Ray Wahowiak 225.

Two hundred plussers in the Gladstone Classic were Bill Lueck 202, Arvid Isaacson 217, Mike O'Brien 216, Clarence Carriere 235, Art LeGault 211-204, Byron Skellenger 214, Walt VanDeweghe 203, Irving Johns 203, Harold DuRoy 207, Georget Schneller 226-210, Ed Gravelle 203-201-238-642, Brazeau 222 and Wahowiak 224-225.

Gladstone American kingpins were Carriere 211, LeGault 223, Paul Verhamme 210, Bill Curtis 229, Harold Lang 206, VanDeweghe 211, Wahowiak 215, Ernest Cowell 223, Jim Peterson 207, Howard Sundblad 226, Earl Louis 226 and Roy Van Mill 227.

In the Gladstone Women's Midnight league, Ruth Hamilton rammed out an even 200 for top honors. Lucille Miller posted 191, Margaret Girard 176 and Gerry Korinek 175. Sadie Artley plucked the 5-7, Val Pratts the 5-7 and 5-10, Vi Damsitz 7-5 and Clara Rublien 4-7.

Esther Lamberg's 186 was high in the Gladstone Twilight league a week ago. Mickey Newman hit 192 and Rosie Alpervitz 184 for high this week, as Alice Creten plucked the 5-10 and Betty Franzen 7-9-10.

Rose O'Brien spared the 5-8-10 in the Escanaba Elks Women's Wednesday 9 p. m. unit.

Bee Jones spaced play in the Bark River Women's league by making an easy (?) spare out of the 5-7-8-9.

INDIANS STUMBLE
start in the encounter with the Oakland Oaks. Three singles in the ninth off Sam Zoldak broke a tie and gave the San Francisco Seals a 3 to 2 victory over the Indians last night.

Gonzales Challenges Talbert For National Indoor Net Cup Today

New York, March 26 (P)—annual indoor tournament last night, giving the sponsors a natural between the indoor and outdoor titleholders for their championship tussle, just the way they planned it.

Talbert, who hasn't lost a set in the ten-day-old tournament, was never better than last night when he flattened Fred Kovaleski of Detroit, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, without dropping his service once.

Fred Kovaleski had eliminated France's veteran Jean Borotra and upset third seeded Earl Cochell of San Francisco to earn the title of tournament dark horse. But the William and Mary college star never had a chance against Talbert and his polished, all-around game.

Gonzales had more of a struggle. He had to come from behind to dump former champion Don McNeill of New York, 4-6, 6-4, 9-7, 6-3.

The men's singles final this afternoon will be preceded by the women's championship match between top seeded Gertrude Moran of Santa Monica, Calif., and fourth seeded Nancy Chaffee of Ventura Calif.

Miss Moran will be seeking her third title of the tournament. She and her partner, Mrs. Marjory Buck of New York, won the women's doubles championship last night, defeating Miss Chaffee and Barbara Wilkins of New Rochelle, N. Y., in the finals, 6-4, 7-5.

Miss Moran and Gonzales paired to win the mixed doubles finals on Thursday.

In the men's doubles final today it will be Gonzales and Frank Shields of New York against Talbert and McNeill.

Meet records bettered in last night's action came in the 220-yard freestyle and the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Bill Smith of Ohio State cracked the final event in 2:08.5—six tenths of a second better than the old mark of 2:09.1 set by George Hoogerhyde of Michigan State last year.

Yale's relay squad lowered the 400-yard freestyle mark twice over the University of North Carolina's Bowman Gray pool.

The Yale combination of Paul Girdes, Bill Farnsworth, Larry Munson and Ray Reid established a 3:27.4 mark in a qualifying heat, four tenths of a second better than Michigan's old mark, and then swam the finals in 3:27 flat.

303 Will Compete In Purdue Relays
Lafayette, Ind., March 26 (P)—A 303-man field loaded with Big Nine, Central Collegiate and I. C. A. champions will assault the Purdue Relays records tonight. A half-dozen or so marks appear in danger of being bettered.

Relays Director Dave Rankin's big show, featuring neon lights on most of the athletic equipment, will draw more than 5,000 track fans to the Purdue Fieldhouse.

No team scores are kept in the meet, throwing emphasis on individual performances.

Living Costs Slip Back To 1948 Level

Washington, (AP)—Living costs have slipped back almost to where they were at the start of 1948.

The Bureau of Labor statistics reported that a 1.1 per cent drop in its consumers price index between January 15 and February 15 brought the cost of living to within 0.9 per cent of the figure for a year ago.

It marked the fifth month in a row during which there was a drop in the price of things people buy. And it was one of the sharpest drops for one month since the war.

The index is based on a comparison between present prices and those of the 1935-1939 period in 56 cities.

The latest index was 169 per cent of the average for those pre-war years—27 per cent higher than June 1946, when price controls were lifted, and 71 per cent higher than the figure for August 1939.

First Vessels Pass Through Soo Today After Battling Ice

Sault Ste. Marie, March 26 (AP)—Navigation at the Sault locks opened today at 10:47:55 a. m.

First ship in was the John T. Hutchinson, flagship of the Buckeye Steamship company, skippered by Captain Harold Jacobsen of Erie, Pa.

It was the most riotous welcome a first-tripper to the Sault locks ever witnessed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 26 (AP)—The first lakes ships of the spring navigation season were scheduled to pass through the Sault Locks today.

A dozen freighters, competing for the honor of being the first to reach the Detroit area about noon.

Coast Guard Commander James Hirschfield of Cleveland reported the 112 vessels left Lake Erie ports Thursday night. Seven sailed past Detroit Friday afternoon.

Commander T. A. Dahlburg, stationed at the Sault, said four Coast Guard vessels and the state ferry Sainte Marie will be used to assist the vessels through the ice. Some 40 per cent of the up-bound course is reported covered with ice.

Dahlburg said the icebreaker Mackinaw will be stationed in Whitefish Bay, and the cutters Mesquite in the Birch Point area, the Kaw in the Middle Neebish channel and Dark Hole area, and the Tupelo in the Detour area.

Congress Must Pay The Fiddler Soon, Rep. Cannon Warns

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) whose House appropriations committee rides herd on government spending, said today Congress is voting heavy outlays without voting taxes to pay for them he warned: "Eventually we must pay the fiddler."

Cannon sounded the warning as the House prepared to add more than $6,000,000 to funds recommended by the committee for flood control and river and harbor projects.

In a statement in the Congressional Record, the committee chairman declared:

"The mythical Senator Claghorn who voted for all appropriations and against all taxes is represented here by members who voted to reduce taxes in the last session and are voting for every increase offered to this bill."

The result, he said, "is vast expenditures with no thought of where the money is coming from."

Cannon said the funds being voted by Congress without regard to how the bill will be paid must be provided for either by increasing the national debt or raising new taxes.

MSC Pitcher Neil Ricketts, Lansing junior, and his battery mate, Frank Bagdon, were the big guns in the Spartan win yesterday.

Ricketts pitched some steady ball and Catcher Bagdon contributed two home runs and a double to drive in four runs.

The score: Mich. State 300 211 002—9 14 4 Georgia Tech 210 000 101—5 10 1 Ricketts and Bagdon; Thompson and Bossons.

Oklahoma A-M Faces Kentucky '5' Tonight

Seattle, March 26 (AP)—There was no fear today in the hearts of the Oklahoma Aggies as they approached the zero hour in 1949 basketball.

Tonight at 10 or thereabouts they meet the Wildcats of Kentucky, rated one of the all-time greats among the elite teams of the collegiate hoop sport.

They try at 10 or thereabouts to lift the National Collegiate Athletic Association crown from the Wildcats and thereby take back home to Oklahoma—for the third time—the top prize of the court game.

Speakers Hissed At Peace Rally

contribute to the establishment of peace in the world so much desired by millions of ordinary people in all countries.

As a musician and a representative of the art which need not be translated from one language to another, I particularly realize how much can be done for the cause of peace by the establishment of firm and friendly relations based upon trust and mutual respect."

Mink And Monocle
Other speakers from in front of and behind the iron curtain pleaded their case for peace in today's troubled world.

Outside, surging back and forth and praying and chanting in the drizzle, was a police-estimated throng of 2,000 persons of mixed religious and racial background.

With placards and shouts they protested the conference, the full title of which is the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace.

Generally, the pickets were loud but orderly. There was one fist-fight and some noisy arguments. But a large band of police was not required to make any arrests.

Yesterday, at one point, pickets knelt in prayer outside the Waldorf on Park Avenue.

One picket wore a monocle. His woman companion had on a mink coat. Seven crippled war veterans wheeled their chairs back and forth in the line for about 15 minutes.

Crowds of curious lined Park Avenue to watch. Police said there were 9,000 spectators on hand at one time.

The picketing was scheduled to continue off and on during the life of the conference, which ends Sunday. The pickets dispersed shortly after 11 p. m. EST last night.

A counter-rally was to be held today, a few blocks away by Americans for Intellectual Freedom, a group opposed to the Waldorf conference.

Opponents of the peace conference charged that it is dominated by pro-Communist delegates. This repeatedly was denied by the conference chairman, Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard university astronomer.

Edick and Moran Gain High Honors At U. of Michigan

James Moran and Jack Edick, freshmen at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, have qualified on the basis of high scholarship for membership in Phi Eta Sigma, national honor society for freshmen men, it was announced today by Jerome N. Goldman, president of the university chapter of the society.

To qualify for membership a freshman must have an average of 3.5 for the first term. This means that half of his grades must be "A" and the rest "B". The qualifications are very high, and only four per cent of freshmen qualify for the honor society.

"We regard the honor of being included in this small group the most distinctive that can come to a freshman at the university. We wish to tender congratulations to Escanaba high school for sending men to the university who are qualified for this honor," Goldman says in the announcement.

Jack Edick is the son of Principal and Mrs. Edward Edick, and James Moran is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell, both of this city.

Wrecked U. S. Plane Hunted In Barren Arctic Waste Area

Edmonton, Alta., March 26 (AP)—Search planes today scoured the barren Arctic waste for a U. S. air force plane that crash-landed on the ice of Barrow Strait, 350 miles north of the Magnetic Pole.

The seven men reported aboard the crashed plane, a C-82 Fairchild Packet, are understood to be safe and uninjured. They have been in touch with rescue points by radio. The plane's exact position is not known.

Rescue officials at Goose Bay, Labrador, reported receiving a radio message last night that the men were unhurt when the plane made a successful belly-landing. It was forced down on a 1,100-mile flight north from Frobisher bay to Resolute bay.

First word of the Fairchild's predicament came Thursday night when a radio message said the plane was going to crash-land because it was lost and had only an hour's fuel left. No further word was received here last night.

Several bases are operated by American personnel in Northern Canada. U. S. aircraft help to supply these bases.

Government Agency Crop Support Books Short 350 Million

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Senator Williams (R-Del) said today the books of the government agency which supports farm prices "are over $350,000,000 out of balance" and he wants to know why.

Williams said he has learned that the general accounting office was unable to balance the CCC's books because they "are in such disorder" for the fiscal years of 1943, 1944 and 1945.

As examples, he said there was "one duplication of $2,000,000" and that "barley had been shipped to Russia in the amount of $1,000,000 under the trading agreement and the item has been omitted entirely from the books."

Catholic Information

The most wonderful Way in the world

Winding from a spot in the city of Jerusalem out beyond the walls to the hill of Golgotha, is the most wonderful Way in the world—wonderful because twenty centuries ago Jesus Christ trod this Way, bearing the cross on which He was to die for the salvation of all mankind.

A pious tradition tells us—and it's so logical and so natural that it's easy to believe—that after the Ascension, Christ's Blessed Mother and others who knew Him made daily visits to various memorable spots along that Way—places hallowed by the great sufferings and kindly acts of Jesus on His way to His death.

As Christianity spread, more and more people made pilgrimages to Jerusalem to tread the Way that He had trod, in adoring commemoration of His Passion and Death.

Later, because so long a journey was impossible to all, reproductions of these hallowed spots were fashioned in many places in Europe, and to these the people flocked to meditate and worship.

Finally in 1731 Pope Clement XII sanctioned universal spread of the devotions now known as the Stations of the Cross. That is why today in every Catholic church in every land you may see in painting or sculpture fourteen "stations," each visualizing one of the events of that first agonized Way—events to stir the heart and mind of him who meditates on them.

Can any Christian ever forget the Passion and Death of Jesus Christ? Should any Christian be allowed to? The Catholic Church keeps always before its people reminders of the stupendous sacrifice. It offers the choicest blessings in the name of God to him who, with contrite heart, journeys mentally with Christ along that most wonderful Way in the world—the Way of the Cross.

During Lent the Stations of the Cross are part of the weekly, public devotions. But every day many drop into the nearest Catholic church and privately make the Stations of the Cross, offering up the graces gained for themselves, their friends, or for the souls of those who have gone before.

If it's anything Catholic, ask a Catholic!
